WISCONSIN AT SHILOH

The 14th, 16th and 18th Wisconsin Civil War Regiments were engaged at the Battle of Shiloh, Tennessee. Included are the list of casualities for these Regiments.

The 14th Regiment was organized at FondduLac, Wisconsin in January, 1862. The regiment left Fonddulac on March 8, 1862 under Colonel David Wood. After a brief stay in Savannah, Tennessee they were engaged in The Battle of Shiloh. 16 were KIA and another 13 died of wounds.

The 16th Regiment was ordered to Camp Randall, Wisconsin in 11-1861. Benjamin Allen was the Colonel and the regiment was mustered in on 1-31-1862. They took a train from Camp Randall to St. Louis, Missouri and arrived in Savannah, Tennesse on 3-20-1862. They engaged in the battle of Shiloh were they fought on the front lines. 43 were KIA and 39 died of wounds.

The 18th Regiment was organized in Milwaukee in the winter of 1851-1862. They reported to St. Louis, Missouri On 3-30-1862. They reached Savannah, Tennessee on April 5, 1862. The regiment was not prepared for battle and were surrounded by the confederate soldiers. They had all lost all of their field officers. In this bloody battle the regiment lost 24 soldiers who were either KIA or died of wounds.

The above number of casualities does not include those who were taken prisoner and died in the Southern prisons of disease of wounds.
